

Online Educational Resources

This is a list of a variety of websites that provide online resources for children to use, or websites that will allow them to explore topics they may cover in school. This is not a complete list, as there are thousands of websites that could be accessed, but a selection which are based on the UK curriculum (as some sites refer to the American schooling system) that can be used as a starting point. An internet search for educational resources will also provide other websites that can be accessed.
